

IN THE NICK OF TIME

© BMI by Dennis J. Barela

So you thought you could convince me, girl.
Tried to pull the wool over my eyes
But after last night
I ask why
Were you thinking of him last night
When you were making love to me?
You whispered his name last night
Tenderly

I don't know what happened to us two
After you
It's hard to live with me
Without the you it's so true)

Guess you thought that you could hurt me girl
I've heard it all a thousand times before
You're using all of those soap sud lines
As your pointing me towards the door
Reruns aired before the second act
Maneuvers started pending your attack
You took my heart and piece of mind
And I just can't get them back

I don't know what happened to us two
After you
It's hard to live with me
Without the you it's the truth
But you continued to fake it
As long as you could
So I tried hard to change
I think you knew that I would
I guess we gave up trying:
In the nick of time