

Oblivious © BMI by Dennis J. Barela

We'll never know the power of the knowledge unattained
Or why our god does not speak to us until he has explained
The weather on the day we die
And why you have remained
Oblivious to me

Effects of change of plans on history
And what your heart in my life means to me
How I'd fall in love with you
And how our lives would be
Oblivious to you, oblivious to me

We'll never comprehend how dreams affect our conscious mind
Or how the wars our children wage impact upon mankind
How many miles from hell to heaven
How can we be so blind?
Oblivious to me

Effects of change of plans not meant to be
And what your heart in my life means to me
How you'd fall in love with me
And how our lives would be
Oblivious to you, oblivious to me

Effects of change of plans on destiny
And what your love in my life means to me
How I'd fall in love with you
And how good it would be
Oblivious to you, oblivious to me
